

~~Supposal~~ The Art of the Deal

A supposal, they say! How exciting! No way!
It sounds like something that really might pay!
Is it bright, is it shiny, does it smell like fine wine-y?
Could it hold the promise of something quite fine-y?

A supposal, how grand! With the shake of a hand,
You can have a non-promise... but then where will you stand?
Are you crazy? Don't think, say yes!
To what you say? Well, that's anyone's guess...
Oh you want it, you know it, just go ahead and show it!
But wait, just be careful, 'cuz you really could blow it!

But wait here one second! What IS a supposal?
Is it like thorns on long stems without pretty pink rose-als?
Perhaps it's something they picked right out their long nose-als?
When they say it out loud you can watch their nose grows-al!
And it smells like the jam found between all their toes-als!

Maybe it's just a funny word? Like a bow tied round a turd?
I'd probably take a second look...Or this deal could leave you shook!

Make them open up their coffers!
Make them give you damn good offers!
But most of all, don't falter and don't fall
For a "deal" that's really no deally-deal at all!
First, make sure it's real, and you get what you feel!
Don't fall for their spiel without true appeal!
At the end of the day you deserve something ideal!
Don't say yes to a thingy that won't make you squeal!

Don't worry 'bout being nice and genteel.
Make those suckers serve you that big fat full meal!
And THAT, my dear friends, is the TRUE art of the deal!
